

Food technologist EBA 2026 specializing in convenience foods

Bell is one of the leading food brands in Switzerland. We process poultry at our site. During your apprenticeship in Zell LU, you will not only learn how our chicken nuggets are produced, but also how the processes in the Convenience department work. If you decide to train as an EFZ food technologist with us, you are making a good choice. With our support, you will take your first steps into professional life and become part of the Bell apprentice community.
