

Mechanic for conveyor technology

If you have a deep technical understanding, work with precision and enjoy keeping machines running, then you've come to the right place! As a conveyor technology mechanic, you will ensure that our systems function reliably and efficiently. You will carry out maintenance and repair work, identify optimization potential and thus actively contribute to ensuring a smooth production process. If you are technically adept, a team player and open to new ideas, then we look forward to getting to know you!
