

Junior Production Manager, 80–100 per cent

Here, fresh Production meets fresh ideas. As a Junior Production Manager, you'll be right at the heart of things rather than just on the sidelines: you'll take processes to the next level, drive projects forward, work alongside various teams and gradually take on more responsibility. Your ideas matter. Your drive takes us further. Your development is in your own hands.

You can find all the details online as well as the opportunity to apply directly.

Your tasks

- You will support the production management team in the planning, organisation and management of production processes, as well as in production planning.
- You will ensure that production runs smoothly and coordinate collaboration with internal partners.
- You ensure a systematic approach to work, transparent documentation and structured processes.
- You will lead and oversee projects aimed at optimising and further developing production processes.
- You will compile and analyse production key figures, derive targeted measures from them and implement these together with the team.
- As a key user for production and goods receipt in the CSB ERP system, you will play a central role in the further development of the relevant processes.
- You will further develop the ERP and production processes in close collaboration with production management.
- You will carry out tests on new processes and system updates and ensure their practical viability.
- You will prepare training materials and provide on-site training to staff.
- In the long term, you will take on your own areas of responsibility as well as managerial responsibility for staff.

What you bring with you

- A completed apprenticeship or degree in Production, food technology, business administration, engineering or a comparable qualification.
- Initial professional experience in production, production planning or process optimisation.
- An interest in the further development of production processes and a passion for project-based work.
- A strong understanding of processes, key performance indicators and systematic working methods.
- An affinity for ERP systems and digital processes; experience with CSB would be an advantage.
- An analytical, structured and solution-oriented approach to work.
- Enjoyment of working across different departments and the ability to gain staff support for new processes.
- Good communication and organisational skills.
- Willingness to take on responsibility and develop into a leadership role in the future.
